

New 'Monkey Trial' in Ohio?

Intelligent Design is not science

- Judge John E. Jones III in Kitzmiller v Dover Area School District, Dec. 20, 2005

Sunday, Feb. 12th
3pm

Tifereth Israel
1354 E Broad St

FREE and Open to the Public

The breathtaking inanity of the Board's decision is evident when considered against the factual backdrop which has now been fully revealed through this trial. The students, parents, and teachers of the Dover Area School District deserved better than to be dragged into this legal maelstrom, with its resulting utter waste of monetary and personal resources.

- Judge John E. Jones III in Kitzmiller v Dover Area School District, Dec. 20, 2005

Taft appointee R. Baker ignores pro-science voices at the last Board mtg.

(Col. Dispatch, Jan 11, 06)

Ohio's "critical analysis" creationism is the same as PA's "intelligent design". Will our Board of Education drag Ohio into the next monkey trial?

Couldn't we just leave that to Kansas?

Eric Rothschild was the lead attorney in the Dover PA "panda" trial. He'll speak on An Inside Look at the Dover Intelligent Design Case and What it Means for Ohio

Also speaking will be Dr. Hillel Chiel of Case Western Reserve University on Religion vs Evolution: An Unnecessary Struggle for Survival and Tammy Kitzmiller, plaintiff in the Dover creationism trial, will speak on her experience as a mother standing up for religious freedom

www.OhioScience.org